The Problem

Schools across the country are drowning in spreadsheets. They lack early warning systems to identify struggling students, they have no holistic view of the whole child, and enterprise platforms price out small districts.

- No early warning system to catch students before they fall
- Spreadsheet chaos—no single source of truth
- Missing the whole-child view (academics, attendance, behavior, SEL)
- Expensive platforms lock out small and mid-size districts

Atlas K-12

One view per student. Four data pillars. Automatic risk detection.

Academics

Course grades, GPA, standardized test scores, standards-based grading

Attendance

Daily tracking, chronic absenteeism (10%+ threshold), trend analysis, calendar heatmaps

Behavior

Discipline referrals, incident tracking, percentage-based metrics

Social-Emotional

Research-backed SEL surveys, grit, growth mindset, 6 competencies, grades 3-12

Early Warning System

Catch students before they fall.

Every threshold is configurable. Your institution, your standards.

- Automatic risk detection based on your district's thresholds
- Real-time intervention tracking and outcomes measurement
- Customizable tiering—define what 'at-risk' means for your schools
